Ball Game Between
Officers of Post
And Naval Station

A number of Pensacola people will be invited to the speedy baseball game late Wednesday afternoon at Fort Barrancas between the officers of the post and the Naval Air Station and the social evening following. The game will be called at 5 o'clock after which there will be box lunches and a dance.

Colonel J. L. Hughes has given the fine Barrancas diamond for the game, and will furnish his splendid band for the dance in the pavilion in the evening.

C. Brent has charge of the arrangements for the game and Miss Kitten Merritt is chairman of the committee to provide the box lunches. Pensacolians who are invited will be asked to take out box lunches with them. After the lunches dancing will be enjoyed.

It is reported that there are many baseball stars among the officers at both the fort and naval station. This game will enable them to try out their respective merits, and promises to be a high class exhibition of baseball. The social evening will add much to the enjoyment.

Modern Wood Yard
Be Established

To relieve the threatened acute fuel situation a complete, modern wood yard is to be established at the old Wright's mill site, adjoining the plant of the Escambia Land & Manufacturing Company. The yard is to be operated by Jack Holland, John G. Pace and Wm. Byrd. They will bring pine and oak wood down the Escambia river on barges and it will be cut into lengths for domestic use by power saws.

The promoters of the enterprise state that they are engaging in the project to assist the fuel administration in relieving the coal shortage. Local Fuel Administrator Hayward has urged the substitution of wood for coal so far as possible and the owners of the new yard believe their undertaking will render an important public service.

Colored Church To Hold A Convention

The eleventh annual session of the colored Primitive Baptist national convention will be held in Pensacola for six days commencing next Wednesday.

The session will be held at the Zion Hope P. B. church, corner of Hayne and Brainard streets, and it is expected that about two hundred delegates from all parts of the United States will attend.

Rev. Herbert W. Rice, pastor of the Gadsden Street Methodist church, will welcome the convention on behalf of the city, on the opening day of the session.

Introductory sermons will be delivered by Rev. O. S. Moore, of Charlotte, N. C., and Rev. C. H. Frazier, of Jacksonville, Fla. Rev. S. M. Shelton, of the Zion Hope church, will welcome the convention on behalf of the church and a number of prominent colored ministers will take part in the services.

PENSACOLA PLAYS SOLDIERS TODAY

Pensacola and the strong team from Battery D, Fort Barrancas, will cross bats this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at Maxent Park, when a number of crack players from the post will be seen in the game. With the Pensacolas young Hartman, who has been showing up good in the Twilight, will be seen in action. Most of the former players of the Soldiers have been taken away to other points, so that the team facing locals today will be an entirely new aggregation.

ALL BOAT OWNERS MUST HAVE THEIR VESSELS LICENSED

Motor boat owners and all affected by the recent ruling of the treasury department in reference to the licensing and proper registration of their respective craft, will do well to observe the below statement which needs no explanation. The statement follows:

To Boat Owners.

On June 7, 1918, congress passed an act requiring that every undocumented vessel operated in whole or in part by machinery, owned in the United States and found on the navigable waters thereof, must be numbered, such numbers to be assigned by the collector of customs and to be painted or attached to each bow of the vessel in such a manner and color as to be distinctly visible and legible; the size of such numbers to be not less than three inches in height. Penalty for the violation of the provisions of said act is $10 for each offense.

The only vessels which are exempt from the provisions of the above act are:

(a) Vessels registered, enrolled or licensed in the customs house.

(b) Public vessels, that is vessels owned by the United States or a state of the Union.

(c) Vessels temporarily equipped with detachable motors (so-called "kickers" or Evinrude engines), provided that the said vessels do not exceed sixteen feet in length. If over sixteen feet in length the vessel must be numbered, even though her engine is detachable.

In the case of power tenders belonging to a motor vessel which is required to be numbered under the act of June 7, 1918, the tenders must carry the same number as the parent boat.

In the case of power tenders to vessels registered, enrolled or licensed in the customs house, numbers must be secured for such tenders.

You are requested to bring this communication to the attention of owners of motor vessels in your vicinity advising them that they should make application at once for the necessary blanks to secure the number required by the act of June 7, 1918.

Application for the forms may be made direct to this office or to the deputy collector of customs in charge of the post, nearest to the residence of the vessel owner. For your information you are advised that custom officers are stationed at the following ports in this district:

Fernandina, Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Miami, Key West, Cedar Keys, Carrabelle, Apalachicola, St. Andrews, Boca Grande, Pensacola.

BEULAH

Beulah, July 20.—Crops of all kinds are looking fairly well in this community in spite of the continued dry weather. Corn in fields where velvet beans have been grown for a number of years is far ahead of those where none have been grown; the bean land shows up dark and green and brings out the fact with emphasis that we must plant beans and other legumes in all our crops to make the soil hold moisture to carry the crops through the spring and summer droughts which seem to be getting chronic in this section. Plant beans and more beans. The peanut crop planted under the advice of the county agent, is having a hard time on account of the dry weather and the scarcity of labor to tend it.

Miss Eunice Snowden is at the home of her brother Mark at Eustisville, keeping house for him during the absence of his wife who is in a hospital in Mobile recovering from the effects of a serious operation.

The many friends of Mrs. Bushie will be pleased to learn that she is in a fair way to recovery. She has been seriously ill for a long time.

Mrs. J. M. Snowden is away on a visit to her son, Randolph, who is in a training camp in Texas, and her daughter, Mrs. Della Drew, in Louisiana, and E. L. Snowden at Burke, Texas. Letters received say she is having a pleasant visit.

Geo. H. Davis and grandson, Maxwell Garrett, were Pensacola visitors Friday last.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Daffin, of Mobile, were the guests of Mrs. Daffin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Spare, last Sunday.

L. Spikener was an over-Sunday visitor with friends in the Deep Water City.

J. B. Hurst was in the city on business Tuesday.

I. Hurst, who has been at work in the city, is at home for a few days to look after his farming interests.

SHIPPING BOARD
CHIEF IN CITY

Meyer Bloomfield, head of the industrial service section of the United States Shipping Board, Emergency Fleet Corporation, spent a few hours in Pensacola Saturday, visiting the great ship building plant.

Mr. Bloomfield was scheduled to speak to the workers, but as his time was very limited in Pensacola, he confined his visit to an inspection of the plant.

Mr. Bloomfield has one of the most important offices in connection with the Emergency Fleet Corporation, as it is his duty to handle all questions arising between the shipyard workers and the Ship Building Companies, and the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

Capt. W. A. Rawls
Graphically Writes
Of Fighting Front

The following letter written by Capt. Wm. A. Rawls, Jr., to his mother graphically describes some of his experiences on the fighting front in France and will be of interest to his many Pensacola friends:

France, June 11th, 1918.

Darling Mama:

This is the first chance to write, since my joint letter to you and papa; since that time I have been through some trying and exciting times. The situation became acute due to the drive, and we were called from southern France for immediate duty. We have been in the thick of the fight for a whole week, and are now back in a quiet deserted French village for a rest of a few days. We leave tonight for a march to another town, and get there in the morning. Four nights ago the Germans made a terrific bombardment of the town in which my company was billeted, and my casualty list in wounded and dead amounted to twenty-seven, including three lieutenants killed outright; since that time I have become a fatalist, and feel that my time simply had not arrived. One of the shells wounded all of my four cooks, and we were giving first aid when a high explosive shell burst ten feet away from me, which resulted in the majority of the casualties. Black dark, no lights allowed, and shells falling like hail! an experience I shall not soon forget. I had been out with two lieutenants posting a platoon on the fighting sector, and we had just returned to our room for the night, at one o'clock a. m. when the bombardment began. These same two, and one other, were dead fifteen minutes later. I think now I lead a charmed life, as it is nothing short of a miracle how I escaped without a scratch. I have just written letters of sympathy, and a narrative of the incidents to the relatives of the dead officers, and I did my best to tell all I know they want to hear.

Lieutenants Ball, N. C., Mayes, S. C., and Jackson, Colo.; you probably saw their names in the casualty lists.

We have been in the liveliest sector on the front, and we can well believe it. Tonight we go to a sector which is not dangerous, because it is so very quiet. Don't worry a bit about me in connection with the foregoing as I shall always be safe.

Quite a number of Germans have been taken prisoners in the last few days, and they, when questioned, all agree that Germany is not faring so well as they thought. The French feel that the war will not last through the coming winter. I wrote to Ethel yesterday, but left out much of the above because she might be unnecessarily frightened.

In this town the officers are occupying two elegant vacated houses, and we have been living like kings. The French people in their flight left their chickens, cattle, etc., and the French government gives these to the American officers in preference to the possibility of their falling into the hands of the boches. Last night was the first time I have slept in a bed in two weeks, and it certainly was comfortable.

We are no longer having trench warfare, but open fighting, which is much more difficult. This part of France, where we now are, is most beautiful, and one can hardly blame the Germans for desiring it. A section of the Y. M. C. A. goes to the front with us, and supplies us with all the "luxuries" of life, such as paper, smoking materials, chocolates, etc.

In my stay at the front I have not experienced any gas shells, but the high explosives are something terrific. In the house we are now occupying we found a cellar loaded down with bottled cider, and red wine twenty-six years old; this, of course, we have enjoyed very much.

The American troops, with a little more training, will be able to easily whip Germany. The Americans are natural born fighters, and the French, although they have fought well, ought to have won long ago.

Last night I have been two miles from here, was bombarded and we slept in the cellar of this house, where ample protection was afforded.

Your last letter to me was about May 7th, so another is about due now and is eagerly awaited.

My little girls are in my thoughts at all times, and when I rejoin them I shall be so happy the world won't be big enough to hold me, and my joy together.

Pardon this scratch, but I am so pressed for time that I fear I shall soon forget how to write.

Give everybody my love, and with my best love to you all, I am,

Yours devotedly,

WILLIAM.

CHARGED WITH DESERTING ARMY

Vernon Duncan, alleged to have deserted from Company I, in April, was arrested by Deputies Hartsfield and Van Pelt yesterday and is held in the county jail, awaiting the pleasure of the officers at Camp Wheeler where the command to which Duncan is said to have deserted from, is on duty. Duncan was attached to Company H, 123rd Infantry, when he suddenly disappeared. It was said. He brought a load of crossties in a boat from a point in Santa Rosa county, and was in the city but a few hours when the deputies picked him up.
